SYRACUSE (N. Y.,) Oct. 11.-Senate David B. Hill sounded the keynote of hi campaign for Governor tonight in this city and with his address opened a partisar battle that promises to be historic in the annals of State politics. The Alhambi Rink, where the Democrats and Republi cans alike have sounded the tocsin of po litical battle, was the scene of the open ing note of warfare. The first politica meeting that ever named Hill for office assembled under its roof.

Some 3000 people heard Hill speak to night and half as many more were unable to gain admittance. The American flag was very much in evidence as a decoration and a good many of the fair sex lent their presence to the occasion. The doors were opened at 7 o'clock and within half ar hour the hall and platform had been filled until a few minutes of 8 o'clock, and then there was an uproar, a rising in seats and great enthusiasm as Sanator Hill drassed in a plain frock coat, and with a black tie, stepped upon the platform. He was the usual cool, impassive statesman and to the storm of applause made but a slight inclination of his head. When the cheers and applause had subsided and the vas dience had again settled itself. County Chairman Yale stepped to the front of the platform and said he had been authorized Senator Hill.

When his name was mentioned the Senator stepped to the front and stood with his hand on the table, facing his audience. For some minutes he watted white the audience cheered and cheered again, and then he began his remarks. He was listened to with great attention, but was frequently interrupted with most vociferous applause. He spoke in a clear, concise and convincing way, and held his audience until the last word. I am also reminded that this county was the birth-place of that distinguished and sterling Democrat and statesman, Horatio Seymour, (applause,) from whose lips I first learned the lessons of true Democracy, and that it was also the boylood home for many years of the present Democratic President of the United States, Grover Cleveland (loud applause,) where, struggling with honest poverty, he acquired those habits and principles of economy which have always been distinguishing features of his official administration in State and nation; and, propriety of its exercise in any instance administration in State and nation; and, recollecting all these circumstances, it was deemed most fitting the first words in behalf of Democratic principles should be uttered upon the soil rendered interest-ing by such pleasant memories.

"It is not impossible that the early narrow associations of Vermont and the proscriptive sentiments of New Hampshire which surrounded Mr. Morton during his residence in these States may have influenced his convictions upon certain public questions and led to his selection in this peculiar crisis. "The Democratic party in this State will not sanciton Republican nor Democratic blackmall, whether discovered in Demo-cratic or Republican municipalities, and it is an insult to the people to assume otherwise. We refuse to be placed on the defensive or on false issues. The plain truth is that the police department of New York city is a non-partisan, or rather a bi-partisan department, governed by civil service reles, and that the irregularities and abuses recently exposed have already implicated more Republican than Demo-cratic police officials, and that such exposures have been followed by pro-

It has not escaped public attention that the partisan Lexow committee has not sought to discover police abuses in any Republican cities of the State, and with their fair discrimination the people of the State will not tolerate any attempt to make partisan capital out of the repre-sentatives of only a partial investigation. Neither do we propose to permit other issues, entirely disposed of, to question whether the Democrats properly or improperly, regularly or irregularly, secured control of the State Senate in 1891 is powder already burned. I do not intend to thresh old straw over again, but I desire simply to suggest that the Democrats had fairly carried the State ticket in 1891 by 47,000 majority, and no legal quibble, no technicalities and no harsh construction of judicial enemies should have been permitted to deprive them of the control of the Legislature, to which, under the circumstances, the dominant party was fairly entitled, and whether any law was strained or not, justice did, in fact, pre-the Democratic party is responsible for the hard times through which the country has just passed. The financial panic of last year and the succeeding hard times were the result of Republican legislation enacted during Harvison's administra-tion. You know who passed the Sherman silver bill and the McKinley bill and one was as detrimental to the finances of the country as the other. One exhausted the surplus and the other failed to produce sufficient revenue to support the govern-ment. The McKinley bill was a complete failure. It virtually broke down during the last year of the Harrison adminstration the receipts being so meager that the expenditures of the government nearly exceeded its revenues. Drafts made upon the Treasury Department were not promptly met, among others, those for the payment of money due for pensions, and a system of transfers of balances from the differ-ent sub-treasuries became necessary which gave an excuse for delay in settle ment of government claims, when in truth and fact the nation for the time being was virtually bankrupt. With these two obnoxious statutes repealed the country is now entering upon better times. Money is easier, trade is reviving, manufacturers are resuming operations, new enter-prises are starting up and everywhere there is a feeling of security, of confidence and of prosperity. Our working men are rapidly finding employment and the great army of the unemployed will

NEEDS INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

"What the country needs now is an in-dustrial peace. Any attempt to repeal the existing law, and to substitute the Mcexisting law, and to substitute the Mc-Kinley law in its place, will disturb the business interests of the country. It is better for the country, better for every-body, that no such effort be made, but that a Democratic House and Senate should be chosen to co-operate with the President in giving the country industrial peace for the next two years. Those who peace for the next two years. Those who advocate a different course, do so for politics's sake alone. A fair trial of the existing law before a general revision is again attempted—that is the wise and safe policy, which will continue the restora tion of prosperity.

charge of the government under unfavor-able and adverse circumstances. With slender majority in the Senate and an un-wieldy majority in the House, it is not to be wondered that the measure now submitted to the judgment of the country does not in all respects meet with public expectations. It is, however, a vast im-provement over the McKinley law, and will clearly demonstrate its superiority as time rolls on and the business interests of the country shall adjust themselves to the new conditions. It recognizes, in part, at least, the Democratic doctrine of free raw materials, and, in response to an overmaterials, and, in response to an over-whelming public sentiment, has appropri-ately provided for free wool, free lumber and free salt. It has largely increased the free list in other respects. It has reduced the duty on coal and iron nearly 50 per cent. The general average reduction from the McKinley rates is nearly 33 1-3 per

The elimination of sugar bounties saves to the American people nearly $15,000,000 annually. If it be said that the new law in a single respect is unduly favorable to one particular trust, my answer is that the old favored a dozen trusts. Every man, despite the Republican statements to the contrary, should understand that another general or extensive tariff revision is not contemplated by the Democrats, now or in the future. "No matter which political party won in 1892, the tariff revision would have been necessary inevitably so, because the McKin-ley law had broken down, had collapsed, and had proven urterly inadequate to meet the necessities of the government. The duties had been placed so high as to be largely prohibitory in effect.

"I believe in honest government, in national, State, city and town, and I have no sympathy with fraud or corruption anywhere. I pledge my best efforts to uproof rascality wherever it may exist in our State, and to punish the offenders wherever found. If the nomination which I have refuctantly accepted under-circumstances with which you are familiar, shall be ratified by the people, I shall assume that office under no obligation to any ring, machine or political clique, and free from anyentangling alliances whatever, and with the sole desire to discharge my duty to the whole people according to the best of my ability.

"To party friends I have only to say that party differences shall be forgotten, and that all interests, all sections and factions shall be treated fairly and alike. I have consented to make the present contest not to gratify any personal ambition, but to assist in alding the Democratic cause which is near to my heart, and with which I have been identified all my political life. I regret that the very estimable gentlemen in New York and Brooklyn have announced their unwillingness to give me support at the election, and express a desire to advocate a third cicket. I de-have announced their unwillingness to give me support at the election, and express desire to advocate a third ticket. I deplore such action, not on account of any injustice or result to myself personally, but for the Democratic cause which such unwise action imperils. They know as well as I do that this nomination was not of my own solicitation, and for a week I sought in every honorable way to be relieved from the burdens and responsibilities which lis acceptance imposed. With 'malice toward none and with charity to all,' with no words of censure or complaint, I leave them to discharge their duty to their country and their party according to their consciences.

A united Democratic party in this State will give the victory. With honest efforts to poll our full vote, with a firm reliance upon the justice of our cause, let us enter the contest with a determination that we can and will place the Democratic party in the victorious column, where it stood for eleven years straight during my former administration and where it belongs. I repeat what I said in opening the campaign in Brooklyn in September, 1892, in behalf of our national standard-bearers, Cleveland and Stevenson, 'To secure the victory which awaits us we must organize, organize, organize!"

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 11.—(Special Dispatch.) Senator Perkins was greeted with a crowded operahouse to hear his exposition of campaign issues tonight. He opened with recounting his visit to this valley when it was but a barren waste more than twenty years ago, and spoke of the wonderful development under industry and intelligent care of thrifty citzens until in so short a space of time it, like Aaron's rod, grew and blossomed and fruited. The schools and churches were praised and the freedom from saloons was pointed out as an example of what ought to have been done throughout the State. The influence of women in politics was commented upon, larger than men realize. Taking up silver, he said he was infavor of free coinage of American silver. The work of the extra session of Congress was ridiculed. The tariff was discussed briefly, showing the advantages of the McKinley bill over the Wilson bill, and the placing of luxuries upon the free list by the latter. It is said that the government had contracted to pay for fifteen years a bounty of 2 cents a pound and Democrats had broken hat contract.

Referring to Mr. Wilson's reception at Referring to Mr. Wilson's reception at Liverpool, Senator Perkins said that he would rather shake the hand of the poorest workingman than receive the plaudits of foreign boards of trade if it must be secured through disloyalty to Americans. He said he opposed the Riley funding bill and favored the election of Senators by a vote of the people. Senator Ford followed and was given an ovation because of his championing the county bill in the State Senate.

PLACE.

DETROIT (Mich.,) Oct. 11.—At Adrian, Mich., Gov. McKinley was met by Gen. Alger, Gov. Rich and others, who escorted him to Detroit. A stop of three hours was made at Jackson in order to enable the Governor to address an immense crowd gathered at the fair grounds. He referred feelingly to the fact that Jackson was the birthplace of the Republican party, which had done more for the freedom of mankind and secured more opportunities for the people than any other political party whose history had been written anywhere in the world. A brief stop was made at Ann Arbor, where the students at the university and a great number of others gave Gov. McXinley a rather bolsterous greeting.

At Detroit there was a big crowd at the depot to cheer and follow him in an organized procession to the residence of Gen. Alger, where he will spend the night. The Auditorium tonight was literally packed and Gov. McKinley found his audience to be one of the most responsive he has ever addressed.

A special train will take the Governor in the morning to Grand Rapids.

One half of a boiler was hurled a full quarter of a mile from where it had formerly stood. NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—There was a dramatic finale to the suit of Frank Larkin against the Long Island Railroad Compney to recover $50,000 damages for injuries sustained in a collision a year ago. Fitzsimmons Meets Corbett — Four World's Bike Records Broken— The Eastern Races—Robert J. Defeats Patchen.

SANTIA ANA, Oct. 11.—(Special.) As the air progresses, interest in the races increases. The attendance today was considerably larger than upon either of the rious days. Of course the races are wing better every day, which fact, no bit has had something to do with the wd's holding off until the latter part e made today's programme an especially od one. There were several sensational ents, and the entire afternoon was filled Neille W., with two heats to her credit, obtained the previous day, again set the pace from the wire, and maintained it the full mile, the other reached the quarter in 0:34 and the in 1:07, a 2:14 gait. On the upper me the passed the last post in 1:424, coming under the wire in a jog in 2:17%, olipping a quarter of a second off the best heat made the day previous and winning the heat, race and first money, Abanteeo second and second money, Stanley third and fourth money, Queen Anne fourth and Gray Jim fifth and third money, Win-chester sixth. Nel%e W.'s effort in this heat was a remarkable performance for a 2:27 class.

In the running, two-year-olds, five-eighths of a mile dash, purse $300, the following started: Walnut Grove Stable's Itata, Mconald's Huenome, Donathan's George Thomas and Maben's Red Head. In the Pohemus and Maben's Red Head. In the breakaway Hueneme led by a length, Red Head following with Rata and George Pohemus fully two lengths behind. It looked as if Hueneme had everything his own way, but on the upper turn Pohemus let out a few-kinks, coming up in the bunch. Down the stretch he passed itsta and Red Head, and came up to Hueneme's side. There was a terrific spurt and Pohemus was sent ahead of the black colt by superior riding, winning the dash by a nose in 1:03½, Hueneme second, Red Head third and Itata fourth.

The unstarted 2:15 pace, for a purse of 1000, from Wednesday, was called with the following starters: Keating & Ottinger's Edith, Mann's Del Norte, Roll's Nellie I and L. C. S. F's Lady H. This proved to be one of the sensational events of the day. The spectators anticipated this, consequently every one seemed to be on the qui vive when the pacers scored down for a start. Although Nellie I set the pace when the word was given, she could not keep it. Edith passed her at the eighth and was at the quarter in 0:33. Nellie fell back to third place, allowing Lady H., who came with a burst of speed, reaching Edith's sulky at the half in 1:05%. unstarted 2:15 pace, for a purse of

The heat on the upper turn was between the two leaders, Neille here dropping back to last Flace. Edith showed past the three-quarter post in 1:39% and although Shaner was at her sulky with Lady H., he knew he would have to drive to win. The whip was brought down over the mare's back several times in rapid succession, and she moved up, but Edith had her head and continued to make the pace, coming under the wire with Keating holding the ribbons in 2:14%.

In the third heat they were sent away together, Lady H. leading at the quarter in 0:33, with Edith at her sulky. Lady H. was at the half in 1:05½. On the upper turn, in 1:40½, there were two lengths between Lady H. and Edith, Del Norte moving up by Edith's sulky. Down the stretch Del Norte took second place, coming under the wire four lengths behind Lady H., who made the mile in 2:15½, Edith third and Neille I. fourth.

In the fourth heat Tom Raymond was put in Del Norte's sulky to manipulate the reins. They were sent away with Neille I. setting the pace, but she could not hold it. Lady H. passed the quarter in the lead in 0:33½, and was three lengths in the lead on the backstretch at the half in 1:06, Del Norte second. At the three-quarter post, in 1:41, Edith moved up to Del Norte's side, but on the stretch she got tired and allowed Del, Norte to keep second place. Lady H. finished in a jog in 2:17, winning heat, race and first money; Del Norte second and third money; Edith third, and second money; Nellie I. fourth money.

PACING, 2:27 CLASS.

PACING, 2:27 CLASS. In this race the following horses started:
S. P. H. & Co.'s Waldo J., Bailey's Olinda
Richmond, C. A. Durfee's Ketchum, Gird's Thera, and Baker's Birdroe. The first heat in this race was another sensational event. Waldo J. went into the air on the first turn, allowing Thera, Ketchum and Olinda Richmond to pass him in the order first turn, allowing Thera, Ketchum and Olinda Richmond to pass him in the order named, Thera passing the quarter in 0:33½, and the haif in 1:07. At the five-eighth post Ketchum forged to the front, setting the pace, which was a lively one. Walde had come to Thera's sulky, when he want off his feet again, but he soon recovered, and then let out a few links that showed that he was fully competent to go in the free-for-all against either Silkwood or 'Wood. At the three-quarter post Ketchum's head showed first in 1:42, but Waldo was coming in a terrific burst of speed. Down the stretch he came, collaring Ketchum at the drawgate and winning the heat in a jog in 2:16½, Ketchum, Thera, Olinda Richmond and Birdroe coming in in the order named.

In the second heat Ketchum had the worst of it. Waldo broke again at the eighth, but was soon on his feet again. Ketchum led at the quarter in 0:32½, but Waldo headed them all off at the half in 1:05. At the head of the stretch, in 1:41, Hann was coming up on Ketchum with Olinda Richmond, and down past the drawgate poth these horses went off their feet, while Waldo jogged under the wire in 2:17, Ketchum catching herself just in time to retain her position by a few inches, coming in first place, Olinda Richmond third, Thera fourth, and Nellie 1. fifth.

In the third heat there were but four

Ketchum following. At the head of the stretch in 1:43 Waldo led by six lengths, and Olinda Richmond was all of four lengths ahead of Ketchum; but down toward the wire Richmond weakened, and Ketchum moved up to second place, next to Waldo, who won the heat, race and first money in 2:18½; Ketchum second, and second money; Olinda Richmond third, and third money, and Thera fourth, and fourth money.

THE 2:40 TROT.

THE 2:40 TROT.

There were four starters in this race. Purdy's Sir Gird, Maberry's El Molino, C. A. Durfee's Etta Wilkes and C. Vanina & Company's Thompson. The quartetie got off together, but Thompson led at the quarter in 37s., two full lengths; Etta Wilkes and El Molino each making an even race for second place up the back stretch. Thompson passed the half mile post in 1:13% and around the turn in 1:50½. Sir Gird, some distance back, became frightened from the nose-band on the bridle and started to run away with Sanford, coming down the stretch, swaying from side to side of the track in a frightful manner. When Thompson passed under the wire in 2:26, with El Molino second, all horses turned out for the runner. Sanford got him under control, however, and stopped him around by the quartermile post. The judges distanced him for his run.

In the second heat the two were sent away together; El Molino, however, breaking around the first turn. Thompson led at the quarter in 36s. and at the half in 1:11½, with Etta Wilkes two lengths in the rear. At the head of the stretch in 1:48¼ Thompson faced the wire a full length ahead of the mare and won the first race will be called tomorrow at 12 o'clock.

THEY WILL FIGHT.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons Both Make Concessions.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Corbett and Fitzsimmons were matched this morning to fight to a finish at the Florida Athletic to fight to a finish at the Florida Athletic Club, Jacksonville, Fla., for a purse of $41,000 and a $10,000 a side at any time after July 1, 1895. The fight will probably take place in the fall of next year and the date is left to, the choice of the club. Corbett and Fitzsimmons met in the office of a newspaper. Corbett said: "Well, Pits, I am here to make a match."
"That is what I am here for," replied Fitzsimmons, defiantly. Then he introduced his manager, Capt. Glori, and said: "My manager will be my spokesman on this occasion."
Corbett said: "Where is your money?" "Glori replied: "Here is $1000 to bind a match."

and said: "You people have been talking about $10,000 a side; there is my money; cover it."

"But, Mr. Corbett, you don't expect us to put up $10,000 right away?" said Giori. "You are rich, but we are not."

"Corbett smiled sarcastically and said: "Where is that $60,000 you have been talking so much about?" There is no use in playing the poverty gag—it's too stale."

Word followed word, but Corbett finally said: "Well, here. I'll put up my $10,000 now, and you can put xpurs up when you like. I will fight Fitzsimmons any time after July 1 next year, and not before."

"We think," said Capt Giori, "that you should fight within six months, and defend the champlonship twice a year."

"You do, do you?" saiked Corbett, with evident surprise. Then, shaking his head slowly, he said: "You're very much mistaken. I hold the champlonship, and have the right to dictate terms. It is only a waste of words and time to talk about a fight before July."

"Fitzsimmons's manager finally consented to have the fight come off after the 1st of July, and both men announced their willingness to sign, but, as that would be against the laws of this State, the articles will not be signed here. The articles will be similar to those signed by Corbett and Sullivan in 1892.

As soon as this arrangement was made, the question of a purse was considered. There were three men in the room ready to make offers. Capt. Williams, of the Auditorium, New Orleans; President Scholl of the Olympic Club of the same city, and Joe Vendig, of the Florida Athletic Club. "Now, gentlemen, said Corbett, "we show will offer the largest purse."

Scholl said: "The Olympic will give $25,000." Capt. Williams claimed that had aircady offered $25,000 on behalf of the Auditorium. Vendig said, as he threw five $1000 bills on the table: "The Florida Athletic Club will give $30,000, and here is $5000 as a guarantee." Scholl offered $50,000 and benefit said.

Before the negotiations were completed Corbett turned to Fitzsimmons and said: "Fitz, you said when you met me, you would shake your finger in my face." "I did not," said Fitzsimmons doggedly. "I never said such a thing about you, and I don't think you would say that about me."

inches apart, and it looked as if the storm were about to burst, but nothing came of it. The fight is to take place on the date to be named by the Florida Athletic Club after July 1, 1895. Corbett's $10,000 was hande to Al Smith as temporary stakeholder, and Capt. Glori on behalf of Fitz simmons will, on Monday, deposit $2500 with the same man, $2500 more on December 1 and a similar sum on Fobruary 1, and the last installment on July 1.

WHEELMEN'S PARADISE.

More World's Records Broken by Ramblers at Sacramento.

Ramblers at Sacramento.

Associated Press Leased-wire Cervice.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—Four more world's bicycle records for short distances were cut down here today, three of them being by members of the Rambler team and one by L. S. Upson of the Sacramento Athletic Club Wheelmen.

The weather was almost perfect, the thermometer registering 78 deg. in the shade, and there was but little wind. The races were run in the presence of quite a large number of spectators. The judges were E. S. Atwood, W. A. Hubert and H. E. McCrea; timers, W. H. Kinross, E. W. Bates and W. N. Kimball; starter, E. Davenport; umpires, E. G. Ranlett and F. M. Jones.

R. S. Long of the San Francisco Olympic Club Wheelmen and Tony Delmas of the San Jose Wheelmen's Club rode a tandem, paced half a mile, flying start, against the world's record of 0:53 2-5; and cut it down to 0:53 2-5.

C. S. Wells of the Bay City Wheelmen's Club went against the world's half-mile record, paced, flying start, and reduced it from 0:53 -15 to 0:52 2-5.

L. S. Upson of the Sacramento Athletic Club Wheelmen went out to see to what he could do with the world's unpaced half-mile record of 1:05, class A. He rode an ordinary road wheel and set a new mark for racing wheels, covering the distance in 1:04 3-5.

Wells rode against the world's record of 0:58 1-5 for a beit celled and the world's record of 0:58 1-5 for a beit celled readers.

We'lls rode against the world's record of 0:58 1-5 for a half mile, standing start. He was paced throughout by Edwards and Hall and reduced the record to 0:57 4-5. The pacemakers were balked somewhat by a slight accident to their wheel, or We'lls could probably have made even better time.

Club, undertook to lower the world's un-posed mile record of 2:07 2-5, flying start, He went to the quarter in 0:30, but thought he was not going fast enough and stopped. In the second heat Robert J. took the lead from the start and easily held it to the finish, making the second mile in exactly the same time as the first.

The last heat was the sensation of the day. The start was a perfect one, the two great pacers crossing the wire nose and nose. Robert J. soon put a length between himself and his rival. Coming into the stretch, Geers let Robert J. out and hecame under the wire like a shot, five lengths shead. There was a cyclone of applause a few minutes afterward when the time was announced at 2:03½, within a second of his record. The last quarter was at a 2:00 gait. The quarters were 0:32, 1:03, 1:34, 2:03½.

Prof. Leyden persists in his rather favorable diagnosis of the Czar's case, and he fully believes that if it is feft entirely in his hands he will be able to effect a cure.

The Czar is incessantly worried, first about the apparently approaching death of his son George, and, secondly, the conduct of the Czarewitch, who stubbornly refuses to marry the Princess Alix. The Russians assigt his refusal to the great love of the Czarewitch for his mistress, a most beautiful eliwess, who seems to have such a hold upon him that, for the sake of keeping her, he has offered to renounce his right to the succession to the birone. At the same time, the Czar fears for the welfare of Russia and, perhaps, for the peace of Europe if a regency is necessary. These worries, Prof. Leyden asserts, constitute the greatest feature of the Czar's case.

After breaking jail the men proceeded to loot the town of Littleton, ten miles from Denver. They entered the general merchandise store of J. D. Hill, and bound and gagged the night clerk. THE ARMY.

MAJ.-GEN. SCHOFIELD'S REPORT FOR THE YEAR.

Great Value of the Troops in Internal Disturbances—The Effective Strength Should be

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. — Maj.-Gen. Schofield has made a report to the Secretary of War on the operations of the army during the past year. Gen. Schofield, who has been at the head of the army since the death of Gen. Sheridan, announced his retirement next year. The report is principally devoted to a discussion of the necessity for strengthening the military necessity for strengthening the military arm of the government to cope with internal disorders as well as possible danger from without, particular reference being made to the Debs strike.

During a large part of the year, the report says, the army has been employed in the suppression of domestic violence which took the form in many cases of forcible resistance to the execution of the laws of the United States, seizure or destruction of property under the care of United States officers and open defiance to national authority. These disorders at first local in character, spread at length to about one-half ir number and two-thirds in area of -all the States and Territories, excluding Alaska. So widespread and oxcluding Alaska. So widespread and formidable an insurrection called for the vigorous action dictated by the President. At the city of Chicago resistance to law vigorous action dictated by the President. At the city of Chicago resistance to law assumed such formidable proportions that it was necessary to concentrate at that place nearly all the army forces that could be made available from all parts of the country, while on the Pacific Coast the Navy Department placed at the disposal of the department commander the naval and marine forces at the Mare Island Navy Yard, and these forces rendered valuable services. The responsible duties-thus devolved upon the Army Department commanders were performed by them and the troops under their command in the most satisfactory manner. The insurrection was promptly suppressed without any unnecessary sacrifice of life in any case.

The prompt and vigorous action of the troops in all cases and the great forbearance manifested by them when subjected to all sorts of insults and indignities designed to provoke retaliation, were worthy of the very highest commendation. It illustrated in a most striking manner the great value to a government of a well-disciplined force at all times, subject to orders of that government for the enforcement of the faithful execution of its laws.

It would seem unnecessary to point out forcement of the faithful execution of its laws.

It would seem unnecessary to point out the fact that any force like the militia of a State or the police of a city acting primarily under another authority, though highly efficient in their appropriate service cannot be made a reliable instrument for the prompt and effective execution of the laws of the United States. Manifestly every government should have an adequate force of its own for the execution of its own laws, no less than the judicial and executive officers necessary for the same purpose.

The country is now for the first time squarely confronted with the necessity of making adequate provision not only for defense against any possible foreign aggression, but also for defense against domestic violence in the form of foreible resistance to the laws of the Linted gression, but also for defense against domestic violence in the form of forcible resistance to the laws of the United States. A just estimate of those means of defense required consideration of the vast extent of the United States and the great amount of property widely dispersed throughout this territory, either belongs to the United States or in such condition as to be under the protection of the sational government. When these facts are duly considered it becomes manifest that the present strength of the army is not adequate to the performance of the service which may be required. It is certainly manifest that the present condition of the country, with a population of service which may be required. It is certainly manifest that the present condition of the country, with a population of nearly seventy millions, under the danger of discord now known to exist cannot be met by the same force that was deemed adequate twenty-five years ago, when the population of the country was less than faif its present amount and demestic violence was not apprehended. One man to fourteen square miles of territory or one man to 2000 of population is surely a very small guard to protect property and prevent violation of law, leaving out of consideration the force necessary to guard the extended sea coast against sudden attack by a foreign enemy. It is also worthy of remark that more than once in the last summer an infuriated mob in a single city was twice as formidable in number and capable of doing vastly greater injury to life and property than the most formidable combination of Indian warriors that ever confronted the army in this country. In a few words, the army has been recently required to deal wish an army far more numerous and dangerous to the country than any savage enemy which it has heretofore been called upon to meet.

The effective strength of the army should be considerably increased. This can be done at a very small comparative

The effective strength of the army should be considerably increased. This can be done at a very small comparative increase in cost. The present regimental organization need not be largely increased. Two additional regiments of artillery for the necessary sea coast defense; two additional regiments of cavalry to patrol the long lines of railroad under government protection, and the twenty-five regiments of infantry converted into three battalion organizations, would, it is believed, be a just conservative estimate of what is now actually needed. For this the existing number of commissioned officers is nearly sufficient. But a considerable permanent increase in the enlisted strength of the increase in the enlisted strength of the army should be made, and a still further inbrease authorized to be made by the President, when, in his judgment, an emer-

It is not a good military system in which the executive has no authority whatever to increase the effective strength of the army in time of need, but must await the slow process of legislaffon for the matter. Wise forethought in apparent anticipation of such conditions as these which have confronted the government during the last confronted the government during the last, year, dictated several years ago, the establishment under authority of Congress of large military posts near the great railway centers of the country. Several of these large posts are now in a condition to be occupied by the troops, while others are in process of construction, and a few others are still demanded, for which it is presumed Congress will in due time make the necessary appropriation.

sumed Congress will in due time make the necessary appropriation.

"In respect to the military necessities which may possibly rise out of conflict with foreign powers, it has for many years seemed impossible to impress upon the people of the United States in general the view entertained by all thoughtful military students. The condition of the public mind since 1861-65 has been that of confident invincibility against any possible foreign attack. It is therefore, a simple duty to permit the great military lesson which is now being taught the entire world.

Now that modern science has so radically changed the conditions of military and naval success, how impossible has security for peace consistent with honor become, except through thorough preparation for war.

"The time has fully come when the people of the United States should dismiss the over-confidence born of past experience and look the future squarely in the face. The most liberal appropriations for this purpose will be the wisest economy. In this, the last annual report which I expect to be called upon to write, I deem it my duty to make a last and more embatic presentation to my fellow-citizens and to their government of what I consider requisite to place their military establishment in all respects on a footing commensurate with the interests and honor of a great nation."

in all respects on a footing commensurate with the increase and honor of a great nation."

Gen. Schofield recommends the increase of the supply of modern arms to regular troops and organized militia and appropriations for heavy armament for sea-coast defense, and provisions for additional cavalry for services in the Territories traversed by the railroads. Concerning military education, he says: "The constantly increasing interest in military education is manifested by an increased demand upon the army for officers for duty at colleges, universities and other institutions of learning throughout the country.

"Another gratifying feature is the awakened interest in the policy recommended many years ago by which military education shall be extended to the public schools so that a very large number of young men will be well qualified for the positions of non-commissioned officers, and hence for the moulding of a volunteer force into a reliable army in the shortest possible time. No better employment can be given to the officers of the regular army in time of peace than in this widespread dissemination of military education, and should any justification be thought necessary for some increase in the aggregate number of commissioned officers it is fully supplied by this demand for such important services."

completed. These little craft are marvels of lightness and efficiency.

The problem presented to the constructors was to secure this extreme lightness combined with the stiffness and strength necessary to withstand the severe strains of the powerful weight of the torpedotubes. This, it is believed, has been satisfactorily solved. The skin of the boat is built 3-32 of an inch thick, weighing three pounds per square foot. The Maine's boats are a little more than two tons displacement larger than the Texas's boats, and their length is 61 feet 8 inches and 50 feet, respectively. With one ton of coal aboard, water in the boilers, the Maine's boats, with a displacement of nearly fifteen tons, weigh but 13,875 pounds. In the interest of lightness and stability even the shafts are but thin tubes, and the cranks revolve below the floor-plates.

SELF HELP IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Much has been written of late about the apathy, indifference and shortsightedness of the "prominent citizens" of San Francisco, and it has come to be generally recognized throughout the Coast that nothing in the line of progress or enterprise can be expected from the city which was once practically the State, or, indeed, the whole Pacific Coast, as far as commerce is concerned, and which even now, has a population more than four times as great as that of any other city in California. It appears, however, that the San Francisco business men are at length beginning to shake off their apathy. 'wo enterprises are now under way in that city, both of which, should they be successful, must prove of much advantage to the city. The first of these is an independent line of railroad from Oakland, through the San Joaquin Valley, to Bakersfield. Subscriptions are being received from merchants and others to the stock of this enterprise. Whether it shall be more successful than other attempts that have been made in that direction is open to doubt. The Southern Pacific Company will, of course, do its st to defeat the project. Then, again, the banks, most of which hold large amounts of Southern Pacific securities, will hesitate about encouraging an enterprise that must lessen the value of those securities, the face value of which—greater than half the debt of the United States—has been estimated to be more than three times the amount for which the roads could be built and stocked today. However, the San Franciscans are making an earnest effort to start this independent line, and the residents of the San Joaquin Valley, who have occasionally put on mule teams to compete with the Southern Pacific, are awaiting developments with much interest, as to most of the farmers and merchants of that valley the lowering of freight charges has become a matter of life and death. Wherever acceptable men could be found on either of the party tickets, they were indorsed, including Mr. Ellert, the Republican ominee for Mayor, and incumbent of that office. A few days ago the United States Weather Observer at Sacramento stated in his report, in regard to the temperature throughout the State on certain day: "The highest temperature was 108 deg. at Huron, Fresno county, and the lowest 31 deg., at Adin, Modoe county."

Surely there are few, if any, States in the Union which can show such a variety of climate at the same time—as California. There are plenty of States where there is a great range of temperature, but it does not com: the right way. The residents all freeze one half of the year, and sweat the other half. Here in California, on almost any day of the year, on can find in some part of the Stateand often within a very short dis tance-almost any range, from the hundred and odd degrees of midsummer in the San Joaquin, Sacramento, Mojave and Colorado valleys, to the 60 or 65 degs, of the seashore and the frosty nights of the higher mountain ranges. Only a few days ago the campers in Bear Valley were finding ice on their water buckets in the morning, while down below, a dozen miles or so in an air line, their friends were seeking the shade of a tree soon after the sun appeared on the hori-

A Democratic politician of Washington, speaking of the London din-ner to Mr. Wilson, is said to have expressed himself as follows: "That dinner will go from one end of the United States to the other, and all — can't stop it!" Yes, "that fool dinner" is still on its travels, notwith standing Democratic chagrin, and the more Mr. Wilson tries to explain it away the less savory it becomes.

The New York World expresses the opinion that "Mr. Wilson never appeared to greater advantage as a Democrat" than in his speech at the London Chamber of Commerce dinner." This statement is undoubtedly true, but very few Democrats will care to put it in just these words.

"Babe" Hawkins, an unhung desperado of Indiana, has declared himself an independent candidate for Sheriff of Shelby county. Hawkins of Shelby county, Ind., and Knox of Yolo county, Cal., will be able to exchange condolences after the November elections.

Those esteemed Democratic jour nals which are striving to make capital out of Mr. Estee's alleged views on the negro question, thirty years ago, will no doubt be found laboring zealously for the election of Andrew Jackson for President in 1896.

The independent Democrats of New York have put a State ticket in the field in opposition to Hill. It is headed by Everett P. Wheeler for Governor. If Mr. Hill's crow were not thoroughly cooked before, it is now done to a turn.

At last Corbett and Fitzsimmons have agreed to fight some time after July 1, 1895, at Jacksonville, Fla. Now if both pugs will only stop jawing about it, a long-suffering public will give thanks.

The September deficit as, between government receipts and expenditures was $7,701,790. The November deficit of Democratic votes promises to be equally as great, if not greater.

There is some little hope for Sena tor Hill's canvass in New York, after all. It is positively announced that President Cleveland will write no letter in Hill's favor.

(Extracts from a Speech of Hon. E. F. Loud.) Hon. Eugene F. Loud, in a speech de-livered in San Francisco, September 24, livered in San Francisco, Septembef 24, 1894, said:

The last time I had the good fortune to address the people of this city, our country was in a state of peace and prosperity; work was plenty, capital was rejoicing in its productive strength, and labor was enjoying its right to sell its service at prices which brought happiness and comfort to all our citizens and homes. The thirty years which had preceded had witnessed throughout our land the gradual and steady rise of compensation for service of brain rise of compensation for service of brain and muscle, until every day's work was worth, in results, twice what it has been worth aince the last domination of this Union by Southern statesmen and their principles. So firmly rooted seemed our prosperity that most of our citizens thought it beyond the touch of even human folly.

Not even the most sanguine, in the bitterness of party invective, ventured to predict of Democratic success anything more than a lessened volume of trade, or a slight shock of temporary uncertainty, which would, perhaps, soon be over, and certainly would be endurable for a brief season. Had any of our eloquent men, who, two years ago, proclaimed Republican truth to listening multitudes, painted, in the colors of sorrow and sadness so visible today to every eye, the future of the republic as we at this moment see .it, his most partisan auditor would have felt no slight sense of shame at what he might well have termed the causeless exaggeration of mere party fervor. Not one cration was ever delivered which told, in prophecy, one tithe of the story which is truth today; disorganized crowds, which seem to be aiming, in an aimless way, toward the capital of the quiton; the mills running one-quarter of the time and at reduced wages; capital piled up, unused, at the business centers of trade; men unemployed for more than a year past; strikes, idle and dissatisfied men upon all sides; the ceaseless and piteous cry for bread; industries disorganized and ruined, faith and credit entirely destroyed, does not fully portray the condition of our unhappy country today.

This is not a cheerful aspect of the con-

This is not a cheerful aspect of the conditions to present to you, and I regret that I should ever have seen the period when such a condition could be presented; but it is the truth, is it not? And the sooner we meet the facts and conditions, discover their cause and realize their effects, just so much the sooner we can return to the safe road and again embark upon the voyage of prosperity.

Thank heaven things cannot always be thus. America is too great; her resources all too mighty and boundless for even the worst legislation and most incompetent rulers to destroy. By your wisdom and good progressive American sense, an early return to prosperity will be secured. Errors we have made, blinded by sophistry, led astray. The day is not far distant when we shall cease to follow false prophets and return to the teachings of our fathers. Thirty years of almost uninterrupted prosperity had brought upon the stage of life a people who had never learned by experience the lesson taught their fathers, of so-called tariff reform, or free trade. Our practical leaders who had feit the misfortunes of Southern free-trade domination had, to a great extent, passed away; young men, who had seen and known nothing but prosperity, had come to rule and dominate. A life of continued success had nerved them on to secure the impossible. They knew naught of tariff reform by experience, and listened to the infatuating voice of the airen proclaiming theories that the experience of the fathers had exvoice of the airen proclaiming theories that the experience of the fathers had experience of the fathers had experience of the fathers had experience to the theory to be a most infatuating study, but a theory only. They had come to hope and believe that free trude, lower tariff and reduced taxation would give us all the articles we consumed cheaper and an equal or greater would give us all the articles we con-sumed cheaper, and an equal or greater price for those that we produced. But in a day, like the ancient trade of the Orient, it appeared to us a myth. a "will o' the wisp." We grasped for it, and it disap-peared into thin air. Then, "I saw through a glass darkly;" but now face to face. We must lay aside the theories and meet a condition.

through a glass darkly:" but now face to face. We must lay aside the theories and meet a condition.

For years one branch of the Legislature, at intervals, and then the Executive, has been Democratic. The country had still continued prosperous. The people had been lulled into a sense of security by the Democratic cry of retrenchment—reform. Give us full control and we will show you that we fulfill our promises. And in 1892, the people-solemly declared, by that most sacred right of the ballot, that the party which had been led to victory by the immortal Lincoln, guided and led by the wisdom and patriotism of Grant, Seward, Blaine, Garfield, Harrison, and last, but not least, our own sterling, fearless, brainy Tom Reed, should give way to the party of Calbon of Euchapan of Vancey. The smoke of battle had hardly cleared away when the conservative forces of the country stood aghast and appalled at the result. January I, 1883, came; but one slender thread of hope remained, and that the Senate. From day to day men hoped against hope that the bulwark of our American system still remained, but, as the 4th of March, 1893, came, all hope disappeared. We were face to face with the Democratic party in full power. There was a hush throughout the isadd men stood and wondered whether they would fulfill their promises to destroy our industries, that had taken so many years to upbuild. There was no immediate panic. Men stood resolute, still with hope that the streggith and hardhood of our people squie meet the changed conditions. March 31 came, and the tissury balance showed a gain of $1,502,640, which gave to the country temporary relief and the hope that confidence would be restored, forgetting, for the moment, that the month's balance included tho large quarterly payments of internal revenue, etc.

April 30 arrived, and the amount of money in the treasury had decreased $4,147,824. May and June showed a slight gain of $82,250 and $857,138 respectively; but when the people learned that even this showing had been made by the withholding of amounts due its creditors, and showing had been made by the withholding of amounts due its creditors, and showing had been made by the withholding of amounts due its creditors, and stood of the saddle again. July showed a loss of $4,674,732; Dut when you feel with should be added, however, $69,000,000; January. Over $6,000,000; March, nearly $5,000,000. January. free, or freer trade is right, you cannot stop here. There is no sense of justice in taxing the fruits of California and placing our wool upon the free list; of placing a heavy tariff on woolen goods, and giving them the farmer's wool free, or of placing a protective tariff of 100 per cent. on the rice of Georgia and the Carolinas, and the product of the mine upon the free list.

Protection is a great principle, national—not local—in its character. If beneficial to one it must help the whole, for what tends to increase the wealth and prosperity of the individual aids to that extent the whole community, as he is an integral part of the whole. Free trade on the other hand, if it be right in theory, must be correct in practice. The road is open before you. Which will you follow on the one hand is the Democratic party, pledged by its platforms and acts to a policy of free trade under the cloak of tariff reform, and tariff for revenue only. On the other is the young calamity party now known as the Populist, which, as the San Francisco Examiner well said, is the extreme Democrat temporarily lost in purfacil to the trade under the cloak of tariff reform in his own ranks—a party having, among its well defined principles, those that inflame public sentiment, array the passions of each man against his neighbor, incite riot and bloodshed throughout, the land; and to accomplish this they promise you free flat money—boxes to be erected upon every street corner, full to the top with money, free to him who desires it. Here is one of its planks:

"The erection of a public building in him who desires it. Here is one of its planks:

"The erection of a public building in every town of 1000 inhabitants, and the appropriation of fifty millions per year for that purpose; fifty millions a year for river and harbor improvements; one hundred millions a year for the building of government railroads; the issuance by the United States government of two hundred million per year in treasury notes, which shall never be retired, nor redeemed."

When we calmly consider these propositions embraced in House bill 7908, it seems like the ravings of a lunatic. Yet it has the indorsement of the whole Fopulist party.

seems like the the state of the whole Populist party.

And again, Mr. Davis of Kansas, in House resolution 3436, has devised "a new way to pay old debts." Any defaulting mortgage debtor is declared a bankrupt, and his creditor may collect from the United States, the government taking the mortgage. The debtor may redeem, however, in twenty years, paying the annual interest charge of 1 per cent. Senator Peffer of Kansas, in Senate bill 976, proposed to establish a buretu of loans, with a central agency in each State and Territory, local agents wherever required, with the discretion to loan to each individual offering a security not to exceed 160 acres of land, $2500; also to loan to individuals on storehouse receipts. To provide means to carry out this project, $700,000,000 of legal tender notes are to be immediately issued, and, when that is disposed of, the balance of the money in the treasury is to be appropriated, to be used from time to time.

M. Simpson, in House resolution 5073, proposed a similar and more extensive scheme.

Mr. Kem of Nebraska, in House resolution 5446, proposes to establish a government bank in each county, managed by directors varying in solarly of from $2000 to $4000 per annum, at whose discretion may be soaned not exceeding $3000 to any one individual: If ou real estate, for twenty years; if on note, for not exceeding one year; the government to issue a billion or a billion and a quarter, in their discretion, in treasury notes.

And again, Mr. Davis of Kansas, who is one of the brightest lights in the Populist party, comes forward with House resolution 5767, which provides for the enlistment, as fast as practicable, of five hundred thousand men, in an industrial volunteer army, to be ciothed, fed and paid as are recruits in the regular army. Novel Cure for Insomnia.

(New York Evening Sun:) A Chicago man is earning $1 a night in a novel way and at the same time is breaking the town ordinances which limit the use of water through garden hose. He begins work when his employer goes to bed and remains on duty until he is convinced in his own mind that the master of the house has gone sound to sleep. The man is paid $1 a night to stand under his employer's window and play the stream from the hose on the window panes. His employer's friends say that he is such a great traveler that he cannot sleep unless he hears the swish of water under the port-hole of his cabin, so that he is obliged to get a substitute when upon land, and that the nearest approach to the soothing swish is a slender stream of water moving over the window panes. The fact is, the man has discovered a cure for insomnia, which is working well in his case. The idea was suggested to him one afternoon when he was stretched out on the sand at the edge of the lake. The monotonous breaking of the waves uliled him to slumber, and that afternoon he enjoyed his first good nap for a week. Soon after he hired a man to squirt water on his bedroom window, and he says that the muffled sound kept up for an hour sends him to sleep every night.

The Move to Refund the City Debt.

No Official Steps Yet Taken to Call a Bond Election for the Purpose.

The Hearing in the Pratt Will Con-test Continued—An Important Decision by Judge Shaw. Court Notes.

At the City Hall yesterday the Park Commissioners falled to meet. There were few other occurrences of interest. At the Courthouse the hearing of the

At the Courthouse the hearing of the Pratt will contest continued and considerable progress was made. A decision was also given by Judge Shaw in the case of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank against the city, upholding the bank taxes.

At the United States building Judge Ross gave an important decision in the Southern Pacific Land cases.

AT THE CITY HALL.

Morality in the Parks. A MATTER THAT IS RECEIVING CON-SIDERABLE ATTENTION.

The question of maintaining morality in the public parks is one that is troubling the Park Commissioners. At a recent meeting of the board a committee was appointed to investigate the matter, and it is expected a report will be submitted and some action taken on the same at a meeting of the board to be held today.

is expected a report will be submitted and some action taken on the same at a meeting of the board to be held today.

Central Park (commonly known as Sixthstreet Park) is one of the places that presents a rather difficult problem to solve. The place has as many electric lights about it as the City Council can be expected to make provision for paying for. There is one light situated at each of the four corners, and one in the center.

The unusually dense shrubbery in the park, however, prevents the light from penetrating far, and it is stated that late in the evening there are a good many women of questionable character accompanied by men to be found in the park. Similar conditions are said to exist at Westlake Park.

One of the propositions that have been advanced as remedies for the trouble is to adopt an ordinance or by some other means establish a rule which will prohibit people from visiting the parks after 10 p. m. in summer and perhaps 8 p. m. winter. Another measure proposed is for the neighboring property owners, who of course are more directly interested, to employ special watchmen. This, it is believed, would effectually break up the evil.

Central Park is looked upon as a beautiful pleasure resort, and has undoubtedly aided not a little in increasing the value of property around it. The evil there is said as yet not to be very serious, and it is urged it would be too bad to take any measures that would prevent respectable people from getting the benefit of it. The opinion appears to be prevalent that if proper measures are taken promptly the evil may be effectually break the property around it. The evil may be effectually break the point on appears to be prevalent that if proper measures are taken promptly the evil may be effectually break probably have been considered yesterday, but there being no quorum present an adjournment was taken till 10 o'clock this morning. Refunding the Debt.

The Council as yet has taken no action acially in the matter of a refunding and election. This, it will be reconfected, as recommended by the City-Attorney in report to the Council some months ago, a was then stated, there is a considerable rition of the city's bonded indebtedness bitch is on twenty-year bonds and is

As was then stated, there is a considerable portion of the city's bonded indebtedness which is on twenty-year bonds and is drawing a higher rate of interest than it is necessary to pay for money now.

By voting new bonds under the present law, they can be made to run for forty instead of twenty years, thus materially decreasing the annual amount of the principal necessary to be paid, and as they can undoubtedly be sold at a lower rate of interest than is now being paid on the indebtedness which it is proposed to refund, a large reduction can be made in the annual amount levied on the property of taxpayers.

There seems to be no reason for objection to refunding the bonds as proposed, except what would naturally come from the holders of the present bonds. Any person having his own interests in view would, of course, be expected to object to being paid in full for an indebtedness owing to him on which he is receiving 6 or 7 per cent. interest if there were no likelihood he could loan out the same money for more than, perhaps, 5 percent. Interest.

Owing to a misunderstanding it was erroneously stated in yesterday's report of the adjourned Police Commission meeting, held the day before, that it was a secret session. It happened there were no reporters present at the meeting and the parties interested in the case under cons'deration at that time not being admitted, the impression was gathered it was a secret session. The meeting is stated to have been no more a secret one than sessions of the board usually are.

it, ordering judgment for the plaintiff for $833,76, in accordance with a written opinion filed therein.

The items of the alleged illegal assessment were as follows: $50,000 in United States treasury certificates, $500, $27,310 in bonds of the Spring Valley Water Company, $447,72, and $38,880 of solvent credits, $466,56; total, $1514.88.

It was agreed with regard to the item of solvent credits that the amount should have been $19,400 only, making a difference in the taxes to the extent of $233.76, which plaintiff is entitled to recover.

The assessment of $50,000 on account of the United States treasury certificates was, in the opinion of the court, illegal upon its face, for such certificates, being prima facile obligations of the United States, are not subject to taxation.

It appearing that the Spring Valley Water Company is a, quasi-public corporation, since it supplies water to the inhabitants of San Francisco, plaintiff sought to evade the assessment on its bonds; but the court holds that the clause in the amended section of the Constitution excepting auch corporations, is erroneously punctuated, and therefore plaintiff is not entitled to recover the amount assessed.

of the case of A. B. Nolton vs. Dr. E. T. Shoemaker, an action to recover $25,000 damages for alleged malpractice, was commenced before Judge Van Dyke and a jury, the plaintif being represented by Messrs. Guthrie & Guthrie, and Henry T. Cage. Esc., appearing for the defendant.

The plaintiff alleges that on August 28, 1893, while he and his mother-in-law were driving into town from Lamanda Park in a light wagon, they were accidentally thrown out of the vehicle and his left arm was broken by his fall; that shortly afterward they reached East Los Angeles, and he sought the nearest surgeon, who happened to be the defendant; that Dr. Shoemaker attempted to set the fractured limb, but so negligently and improperly did he perform the operation that the bone never knitted, and as a consequence his arm is permanently useless.

The defendant, on the other hand, claims that he used proper care and performed the operation in accordance with the most scientific methods practiced, but that plaintiff was himself to blame, because he neglected to obey his instructions.

A number of witnesses were examined in suport of the plaintiff's contention, but the matter was not concluded, and will be taken up again this morning.

PRATT WILL CONTEST.

PRATT WILL CONTEST.

PRATT WILL CONTEST.

The hearing of the testimony for the proponents in the Pratt will case consumed the undivided attention of Judge Clark and a jury in the Probate Court all day yesterday. When the case was called at 10 o'clock J. S. Chapman, Esq., of counsel for the contestants, presented an amendment to the contest on file, containing a statement of all that the contestants expected to prove, and asked that it be filed. Counsel for the proponents objected to the amendment at this stage of the proceedings, and after a warm argument the matter was submitted to Judge Clark, who reserved his ruing.

The cross-examination of Gen. Mansfield was thereupon resumed, and consumed the greater part of the morning session.

The remainder of the day's session was taken up with the examination of the Misses Kate and Harriet E. Morford, Col. I. E. Messmore, Mrs. S. B. Lewis and F. B. Alles, all of whom were called for the purpose of showing that, in their opinion, based upon their knowledge of and acquaintance with Mrs. Prait, she was perfectly sane until April, 1893, when she was stricken with paralysis.

The case will be taken up again this morning after the probate calendar has been disposed of.

O. Perry, who thereupon put in his evidence and consumed the rest of the day's session. The case will be submitted to the jury to day.

The court holds that while none of the parties to the action can be regarded as citizens or inhabitants of this judicial district, the lands which constitute the subject of the suit are situated within this district. After reviewing the provisions of the act of Congress of March 3, 1887, as corrected by that of August 13, 1888, with regard to circuit courts, and citing a number of interesting authorities upon the subject, the court holds that it has jurisdiction to the extent of at least settling the question of the title of the lands in dispute.

Improvements at the Park-A New

Secret Society. A great deal of work is being done

A great deal of work is being done out at the park just now. The flowers surrounding the greenhouse, which were recently depleted of some of their choicest specimens by flower thieves, have been spaded up and will soon be reset with the best and most hardy varieties of plants. A large force of men is now at work just above the rustic bridge, clearing a new water course, with a view to transforming the large grove into ard island for a picnic ground. The island will contain about two and a half acres and will be a great attraction for Sunday-school and other picnics.

Another secret society has been added to the list of local lodges, East Los Angeles Council of the Fraternal Aid Association having been instituted on Wednesday evening at K. of P. Hall by J. H. Frederick of Orange, who is general vice-president of the order. The membership roll numbers sixty-one names, the following officers having been selected: President, G. W. Stockwell; secretary, William Shaw; treasurer, C. E. White. The next meeting will be held at the same place one week from next Wednesday evening.

Little Laura, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Richter, is very sick with gastric fever and two physicians are in attendance, her condition being considered very critical.

An individual who said his name was Bill Gibbons was about town Wednesday taking in the beauties of the climate when the lack of humidity in the air induced him to seek refreshment. He took a drink or two and then something seemed to be the matter with his head.

He began begging on the street, and was finally taken in by an officer. In the Police Court yesterday Justice Austin gave him fifteen days which will undoubtedly remind him he must not counteract the climate with the wrong kind of humidity.

D. Dallas was in for having violated the license ordinance. He had raised fruit on his ranch and delivered it to customers each day where they had engaged it the day previous. He thought he had not violated the ordinance, but Justice Austin failed to see it that way, and fined him $2.

The general Congregational Assort in the First Church yesterday met in the First Church yesterday ning with an increased attendance.

Rev. E. T. Fleming led the devot business. The permanent committees for the year were ghosen.

"Problems in Church Work Among the Young," formed the topic, presented by Rev. J. H. Williams.

Economy is one of the watchwords of the day, said the speaker. How can we get the best results with the least expaditure of force and the smallest waste of material? The business of the church is largely the production of serviceable Christians of youthful material. Thesis an enormous waste somewhere between childhood and adult life. Some sigh for the bygone days of strong dectrinal preaching, but there is a place for youthful entitysiasm in our churches. In the good old days great numbers were lost to the church between childhood and adult life.

when properly used. The church has taken a long step toward the solution of the problems connected with the syoing in recognizing that they are a part of the church life. The truth should be recognized that the children are already in the church, and the problem is to keep them in it. The child says "my church." Let us cultivate this sense of ownership and possession. The Junior Christian Endeavor Society is proving an easy step to the T. P.S.C.E., and that an easy step to the the church. Let us use this pathway from the cradle to the church door.

The apple may grow in the bottle which cannot be forced in when larger grows. Rev. John Kimball was called upon, and made a plea for The Pacific. The paper was started in 1851, as an aid to Christian civilization in California. "We have a great Coast, and are a' great poople," said the speaker, "and there is a great work to be done in the line of Christian education Each of the denominations has its paper on this Coast, and our Pacific is needed as an exponent of our work and principles. The paper has a page devoted to the interests of Southern California, and so specially merits our larger patronage."

Again the ladies furnished a sumptuous lunch in the church parlors.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the afternoon session Rev. Walter Frear gave an address in behalf of the "Woman's Board of Missions of the Pacific." Rev. Frear is the representative of the American board of this Coast and he delivered an eloquent message in behalf of foreign missions as being the greatest work of the churches. We should emulate other denominations in systematic work for missions and a largeness of contributions.

Our district associations should has committees on Foreign Missions and mo of our churches should be giving to the

of our churches should be giving to this cause.

The paramount importance of this work was vividly set forth.

The board has now a debt of $116,000.

A resolution was passed pledsing the churches to raise within six weeks a special offering of 25 cents per member toward the extinction of this debt.

Greetings, including this pledge, were telegraphed to the American board in session at Madison, Wis.

The question, "The efficient church—what is it?" was answered by Rav. H. M. Voorhees, who said first, the church is God's chosen plan, where He should be felt as a gracious presence and power. Once the tabernacle, but now the church is the abode of God. When Christ, ascended, the Holy Spirit came to dwell

Christians are the salt, the light of the earth. How shall they be more pungent or spread a brighter ray? Christians are branches of the vine; how make them more fruitful. They are soldiers; how become conquerors. Some seek new methods of work, but above all do we need more life.

What can we do to work the works of God? Christ turns the mind away from works to faith in Himself. Have faith in me. Through faith in Christ we can do all things. He must live in us by faith if we are to do the works of God.

The doctrine of the indwelling Christ is perverted by mystics, who seek this for our enjoyment, rather than for power to work. Churches are weaklings that have within themselves the potencies of to work. Churches are weakings that have within themselves the potencies of large life. God has not given us a spirit of fearfulness. We should be impressed with the fact that Christ has truthfully and courageously and sublimely entrusted the conquest of the world to weak men. All the talents needed are found among men, if only they are quickened by the Holy Spirit. The church must have consecrated pastors, efficient officers and trusmethods. But machine work must give more place to hand work. Spirituality, love for souls, desire for God's kingdom is fundamental. fundamental.

TO REDUCE WAGES. COUNCIL BLUFFS (Iowa,) Oct. 11.-In the United States Circuit Court this morn-ing, Judge Woolson handed down a decis-ion in regard to the petition filed last May the United States Circuit Court this morning, Judge Woolson handed down a decision in regard to the petition filed last May by the receiver, J. E. Barnard, asking for permission to reduce the wages of the employees of the Omaha and St. Louis (Wabash) Railway, in accordance with a schedule drawn up by him. The employees whose wages were to be affected filed a protest, and L. W. Ross was appointed master in chancery to hear evidence on both sides and render an opinion on the facts involved. He heard the evidence last summer, and recommended that the schedule proposed by the receiver be concurred in. Evidence was heard by Judge Woolson at the term just closed.

In his decision read just before the noon adjournment today, he recites the doctrine laid down in the recent decision of Judge Caldwell that the employees must be 'paid fair wages even though no dividends may be paid, and holds that this rule must govern, always keeping in mind the general rule that a court must turn the road out of the hands of the receivers just as soon as such a thing can be safely done. A comparison between the wages paid on the Omaha and St. Louis and those on other roads running through the same kind of country follows, the result of which is to show the former are not in excess of the latter except in two branches of the service. The court then says in substance:

"The receiver shows that a large numbers of railroad men are out of employment, so that the places could be filled for less money. The court cannot regard this as having much weight. The retention of faithful, intelligent and capable employees because of the present ability to employ others at lower wages, thus perhaps rendering the roads liable to accidents, for which the court would not be justified in discharging such employees because of the present ability to employ others at lower wages, thus perhaps rendering the roads liable to accidents, for which the court would not be intended to the proposes. The evidence shows that some employees are hardly able to maintain the

"It is conceded by the employees that "It is conceded by the employees that the rate of wages of local freight enginemen and trainmen on this road is greater than on other lines with which comparison has been made, and their wages should accordingly be reduced. The proposed reduction, however, is not a proper one. The receiver suggests that the wages of local freight enginemen be reduced from 5 cents to 4 cents per mile, and those of local firemen be reduced from 2 7-10 per mile to 2½ cents. The court orders that the reduction be on engineers to 4½ cents per mile, and on firemen to 2 4-10 cents per mile. The petition of the receiver will be overruled, excepting as to these two particulars."

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Herald and Free Wool. LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—(To the Editor of The Times:) The learned editor of the Herald, or one of them, would do much better to imitate Messrs. Budd and Webster, and let the tariff alone, for every time he has tackled it, of late, he has floored himself and left the tariff on top. First, he assured us that California wool was only fit for rugs and coarse uses, and wholly unfit to make gentlemen's wear, and that with the coming in of Australian wool, our mills would multiply. Every man who knows anything of American has taken the premium over Australia in fine wools, both card and combing, at every leading world's fair since the Crystal Palace started them over forty years ago. Ohio took it even at Melbourne, and again at the World's Fair at Chicago, where Australia sent wool by the shiplone, and sain at the World's Fair at Chicago, where Australia sent wool by the shiplone, and sain at the World's Fair at Chicago, where Australia sent wool by the shiplone, and sain at the World's Fair at Chicago, where Australia sent wool by the shiplone, and sain at the World's Fair at Chicago, where Australia sent wool by the shiplone, and sain at the World's Fair at Chicago, where Australia sent wool by the shiplone, and sain at the World's Fair at Chicago, where Australia sent wool wool is not fit to make gentlemen's clothes he writes himself down—well, as not very well posted.

I know of one large woolen mill for sale on this Cosat, but have not learned of the new ones a yet.

Now he has made the cheerful discovery the ship of the posted of the Australia wool to help our manufacturers to give us cheaper clothes and world of the wo

American wool to the product of the products.

Into his old tricks and tricks are into his old tricks and could the average fleece and made such improvement in sheep and wool, as was never before known. The improvement in California has been phenomenal. This is the legitimate and true way to cheapen products.

Sheep husbandry is the best branch of farming, and its wanton destruction by the Democratic party should brand the the products.

To illustrate this, one of Buffalo Bill's cowboys told me the following story of a reformed bucker:

canfornia has been phenomenal. This is the legitimate and true way to cheapen products.

Sheep husbandry is the best branch of farming, and its wanton destruction by the Democratic party should brand the party as forever infamous. No wonder they catch at straws in seeking to cover their disgrace.

The Herald says the late issues of the Wool and Cotton Reporter "disclose a most remarkable picking up of the wool business." But this activity is mostly among the cotton and knitting mills.

There are 3000 woolen mills in the United States, and it is not strange that after the deadly uncertainty of the past two years a few should now start up. The last three issues of the Reporter mention the building of five new woolen mills and the starting up or enlargement of a dozen more. The whole does not equal the record of the growth of a single week under the McKinley bill, when our mills paid the highest wages in our history.

But the Herald forgot to note that some of these mills are starting up because the striking operatives now accept the inevitable free-trade reduction and robbery of wages. Nor does it mention the Philadelphia carpet mill, where 450 operatives have gone on a strike to resist a 20 per cent. reduction of wages, nor the New York carpet mill, that has shut down, nor the woolen mill in Ware, Mass., that has closed indefinitely, discharging some three hundred hands.

We shall of course continue to run indennitely, discharging some three nun-dred hands.

We shall of course continue to run worlen mills, but it will be mainly in the East, and on the British basis of shoddy and low wages. The change will be hard on the West and South, where mills are most needed, for their mills are not equipped with shoddy machinery, like those of the East.

with shoddy machinery, like those of the East.

The woolen mills of England use three times the shoddy we have used in the United States, and it is a remarkable fact feat, while they have 6,000,000 spindles, and our American mills only 3,000,000, we consugned more pure wool in 1893 than all the mills of Great Britain.

But all this will soon be "reformed" under the high moral ethics of free trade. The flooks we have been compended to sacrifice will be supplanted by the ground rags of European paupers, and the high wages of the past will speedily give way to "the natural order of things," where the father must drag wife and children of tender age into the factory to gain a bare subsistence.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times:) We often hear it stated that a woman cannot de business in a business-like way. ### BUCKING PONIES.

[From a Special Contributor.]

Mark Twain, Bill Nye, the Texas Sife

Mark Twain, Bill Nye, the Texas Siftings, and, is fact many wits of our West, ern experience, have paid their himorous respects to the energetic equine, known as the bucking "bronco."

Fun has been poked at his pitchings, his lunges laughed at and his antics under the persistent cowboy have been, by linexperienced "terderfeet," of times pronounced a fraud. This is because they who have made this charge know nothing of the nature of the "bronco," and are not familiar with his early life and training.

why he bucks; they know that he is in this manner protesting against a condition he finds himself confronted with, and against which he inaugurates active rebellion.

From whence comes this horse, and why he so vigorously objects to serving as a beast of burden, no one to my knowledge has yet attempted to tell, and if any apologies have been offered for the outlawry of the "bronco," these also have escaped my notice.

The "bronco," is a phoneer. In his veins flow the blood of an ancestry, on the backs of which were borne the Spanish invaders, who, centuries ago, subjugated the people of the gentle Montezuma and conquered the sun-kissed vafleys of the southland.

Escaping from their Castillan bussters, on the broad "pampas" of Texas, in the kindly vales of New Mexico and Arizona, the ancestors of the "bronco" multiplied into Emiliesa here's of wild horses.

From these owneriess her'ds the Indian made captives and became a beggar on horseback. By the privations the wild horse endured with their savage captors, who took them into a more northerly climate, they became the hardy, compact Indian pony.

On the plains of Texas they were known as "mustangs," while under the kindly skies and fed on the nutritious grasses of the far Pacific valleys, they grew to be the bony, loose-jointed, tireless "cayuse" of the Coast region.

"Bronco" is a Spanish word, and signifies rough. "Bronco caballo," rough horse.

These wild horses were inbred with the hardy horse on the backs of which the hunter, trapper, soldier and stockman had been carried into their country, and the result was the broncho of today.

Until he is four or five years old he roams as free footed and halterless as did his, wild ancestors; he is foaled on the roams as free footed and halterless as did his, wild ancestors; he is foaled on the roams as free footed and halterless as did his, wild ancestors; he is foaled on the coast rained in rope fetters, or the cruel thongs of the Rockies; his tough sinews strengthen and his great lungs distend like a bellows with ion.

When he regains his feet he finds strange trappings fastened to him; a yelling, steel-heeled cowboy astride of him; frantic with fright he makes the best fight frantic with fright he makes the best fight for freedom he knows how. He rears, he plunges, he pitches, he runs, and he jumps stiff-legged in heroic efforts to dislodge his yelling rider. Sometimes he succeeds, but far oftener the strong hand, firm seat and the iron bit gains the victory.

But the spirited "bronco" fights again, and again; if he ever quits depends on his spirit, his temper, and the handling he receives. As a rule no friendly glance, no soothing voice, no caressing hand, no sugar-laden palm is extended to the pony of the plains; but in battle royal, with rasping bit and wicked spur, his fate is unconditional surrender or fight to the death.

Thus, in the start, every "broncho" is a "bucker;" some succumb quickly, some

Thus, in the start, every "broncho" is a "bucker:" some succumb quickly, some fight for years, have to be broken every time they are saddled, and a few never quit, but fight to the end.

I have known a horse that had been "bucking" for years to suddenly and, without apparent cause, cease, become as decorous as a deacon, and continue on his good behavior for years, then as suddenly fall into his old tricks and inaugurate an earnest effort to dislocate some rider's back-

To illustrate this, one of Buffalo Bill's cowboys teid me the following story of a reformed bucker:

THE "BRONCO" AND THE "COSSACK."

"One of the 'Cossacks' is riding a dun horse. This horse was once a great bucker, but he quit, and for four or five years was considered a we'll-broken horse. Now, the 'Cossacks' are great riders, but what they don't know about bronce busting' would make a big book. One of their tricks is to place the shoulder on the horse's neck, grasp some straps off the saddles with their hands, raise their legs and boofes straight up into the air, and ride at full speed, standing on their shoulder on the horse's neck, just in front of the saddle.

"This was something new to the dun horse, and I imagine be made some such comments as this: 'Ah! what have I struck here? I wonder if his whiskers who does a 'song and dance' and looks like an hour glass, thinks that's the way to ride a horse that never did anything to him. Well, I won't do a shing to bilm now, only kill him, that's ail.' We gathered that 'Cossack' up in a corn basket. He was in the hospital three weeks, but he and the dun horse have settled their differences, and he is riding him all right now."

Many years ago during a sojourn as a "tenderfoot" on a Colorado cattle ranch, it was my fate to ride a "bucking bronco" a whole horrible week, while a felon was doing business on one of my fingers. I was compelled to take about ten minutes of tendon tugging, bone-breaking disturbance from that cow pony every morning, and it was "hoss and hoss" which jumped the harder and claimed my closer attention, the "bronco" or the felon.

After he had done his duty in his effort to dislodge me the pony was all right for the balance of the day unless something out of the usual happened, but it all had to be done over again the next day. My life was anything but blissful with that felon on hand all night, and the knowledge that the "bronco" out on the range of the West, by bad handling becomes thoroughly vicious, has carned the name of the "Colorado Clo THE "BRONCO" AND THE "COSSACK."

will tackle him, and he is not worth $2 to anyone, they ship him on to a "Wild West" show. There he meets with a welcome and finds a good home, if he kicks about and bucks against it, and Eastern people see this outlaw of the range and think they know all about the "bronco" when they have only seen his vices. He has virtues in abundance.

He is not mentioned in Wallace's Stud Book, padded palace cars do not waft him across continents to receive the plaudits of worshipping millions; no fat purses dangle at the end of a mile or a mile and a quarter dash for him.

But if a human life hung a hundred miles away, and Ramapo and a "bronco" were started on a race to have that life, while Ramapo swiftly covered the first two miles the "bronco" might be engaged in trying to buck his rider off his back, but at the end of the hundred miles Ramapo would be a "quitter" far in the rear, or a dead horse miles and miles behind the tireless "bronco." Yet the "bronco" is as necessary on the great "plains" of the West as is the air and water; he has borne his full share in the westward march of civilization, but it seems to be his fate to be remembered only for his vices, and those vices are largely the result of man's inhumanity to him.

DOES FARMING PAY.

Only in Primitive Times Was the Farmer Relatively Rich.

(Boston Traveller:) Farming ought to pay. It employs more men than any other occupation. Since the first law of life is to devour, and the first law of the new-born babe a request for nourishment, the busi-ness which feeds humanity may not be unjustly be placed first of all in imporunjustly be placed first of all in importance.

Yet the testimony of abandoned farms, of agrarian parties in America, Germany and Great Britain, of the universal flow to the cities, is strong in its discouragement to admirers of agricultural life as the physical and moral backbone of the country. It would seem as though the man who, by severest toil, extracts our bread from the ground should receive a wider margin of profit as his personal bonus than the money-lender, who merely watches and preys. Yet with wheat selling at cost, and a prospect of a generous crop to depress prices still farther, it looks as though the farmer would have no more success this season than others in holding his head above water.

Various reasons are given for the fact, if fact it be. Unscientific and wasteful methods are blamed by one element, the appreciation of gold by another, the closing of markets through tariffs by amother, the low level of wages by a fourth.

It seems to be the case that only in primitive, pastoral times is the farmer relatively rich. As civilization advances the lot of the husbandman, like that of the fisherman, becomes one of toil. Opulence is the exception among the class, and never reaches a height which would exoite the ambition of the avaricious.

But there is a higher sense in which farming may be said to pay. The Athenians sneered at the Boeotians. But, in the long run, contact with the earth and nature, though it may not whet the wits, invigorates the soul, body and the mind. In the race for life it is the country-bred boy who wins. Simplicity, character, unexhausted potentiality, these are compensations which can hardly be measured by any pecuniary equivalent. Yet the testimony of abandoned farms

Are Clubs Decaying.

Are Clubs Decaying.

(Argonaut:) Are clubs decaying? Men of fashion both here and abroad insist that a deterioration set in several years ago and has progressed until now most of the clubs are little better than huge restaurants, not having the remotest affinity with the club of the past. The amazing growth in the number of such institutions is chiefly to blame for the falling off in quality. To be kept going they must have members, and they cannot afford to be too particular as to the kind. In a recent number of London Truth appears a diverting letter from "A Club Waiter," in which some striking facts are snown with regard to the reason of the general deterioration in the manners of club members. The writer evidently speaks from long and actual experience, and his truthful revelations will be cordially indorsed by those acquained with clubs in the old times. He records, in conclusion the sputtering utterance of an explosive old gentlemsh: "What?" he said, shaking his stick at a retreating figure, "that little cad a member of the Rannuculus—of our Rannuculus—of our Rannuculus." Why, twenty years ago, sir, he wouldn't have been allowed to stand on the door mat."

Hussar Coats.

(New York Evening World:) Here's news for the girls who love the militaire. Hussar coats will be worn. They are to be made in military-gray covert cloth and trimmed with black military braid, exactly like the Austrian horse artillerymen wear. The cut inclines to the Prince Albert—that is, it has a seam over the hips, which gives the skirt spring and makes the figure trim. The back is tight-fitting; braid covers the curve lines running from the arms to the waist, and gay little Austrian knots finish them. A little braid with the ornamental knots is put on the skirt.

PROFITABLE EXPERIMENT WITH WATER METERS.

The Council Discusses, Electric Railway Franchises in Secret-Funeral of Albert Brigden. Personals.

PASADENA, Oct. 11.—Special Corre-pondence.) The City Council met inform-ily at Judge Weed's residence this even-ug to discuss the electric street railway ranchise, which is being considered and nded by the board before it is granted. various points of the desired franchise in secret session away from the blandishments of lobbyists and critical supervision of representatives of the general public. At the regular meeting, Monday, the trustees expressed a unanimous opinion that a blanket franchise, such as is asked by the electric company, should not be granted without some guarantee that the rights-of-way through the various streets would be used within a certain period of time. As Trustee Hamilton said, it would not be politic to give away such rights to time. As Trustee Hamilton said, it would not be politic to give away such rights to one company to the exclusion of others that might come in later and desire to build and operate lines. The suggestion that a five years limit of time for the construction of these various lines was not well received by Trustee Hamilton, who declared that five years progress in Pasadena is as much as fifty years in some other older cities, adding that it might be possible that in the next year or two some other company might be willing to build and operate lines over the very streets controlled by the Pasadena and Los Angeles company, but, not yet occupied, Judge Weed is in favor of specifying in the ordinance granting the franchise that in ten years, at the option of the City Council at that time, the company may be compelled to put its wires under ground and do away with poles and overhead wires. As such a provision would injure the company's chances of selling its bonds, and the Council has no wish to retard the enterprise, that clause will probably not be inserted in the ordinance. As it is a most important matter, binding the city for the be politic to give away such rights to

WATER METERS AT ALTADENA. The Rubio Canyon Land and Water mpany has tried an experiment which found to be most successful. The comny, which supplies Altadens and other thous of the highlands with water, had sections of the highlands with water, hadreasons to suspect that a large portion of the precious liquid was wasted and used in quaitities exceeding the rights of stockholders and purchasers. To test this question meters were put in, to measure the quantity used by each consumer and as a result the company had plenty of water for the stockholders and was able to sell as much more beside. The disclosures made by these meters were in some cases astounding. The Cometery Association, for instance, was entitled, by stock holdlings, to 500 gallons of water a day, and was supposed to be getting its due. The meter disclosed the fact that the association received and used something like 15,000 to 20,000 gallons. Similar disclosures, involving smaller, amounts, were made in the case of private consumers, who continued to use all the water they needed, but did not unnecessarily waste it. It is likely that the meter plan will be put in more general use, as a means of saving water.

From the house the funeral cortege proceeded to Mountain View Cemetery, where the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans performed the military burial rite.

POMONA, Oct. 10.—(Special Correspondence.) The trial of T. A. Wilcox, the spiritualistic medium, who so brutally assaulted Rev. Ada C. Bowles because she detected the fraud in his so-called seance Monday night, occupied the time of Justice Barnes's court during the entire day. The facts as published in The Times were substantiated in every particular, and the Jury late in the evening returned a verdict of guilty. The fellow will be sentenced tomorrow morning.

It will be remembered that some five weeks since, Louis Mathews was in a preliminary examination in this city, found guilty of placing a stone upon the track of the Southern Pacific Railroad just before, the passage of the afternoon east-bound train, and held to answer in the Superior Court. Through some inadvertency the thirty days' limit in which the District Attorney's office should have taken certain steps, expired without such action, and, as a matter of course, upon the motion of the prisoner's counsel to dismiss, the case was thrown out of court. Upon Mathews's arrival in Poimona new papers were drawn by City Attorney W. A. Beil and a rearrest made. This will require a new trial of the case here, which will probably commence tomorrow. This is necessary through no dereliction of duty on the part of Poimona local officials, but arises from the Sapsing of time in Los Angeles, as above stated.

It has just been learned that J. B. Camp. J. Y. In short, from the report that reaches Pomona, they were but a short way from the end.

The table devoted to green fruits extends the full length of the hall on the east side, and is the first exhibit noticed on entering. On each end of the table is a lange pyramid of grapes, made up of several varieties, all from the vineyards of Salter Bros. of El Toro. The center of the table is occupied with all varieties of green fruits, and makes a splendid showing in quantity and quality. A collection of varioties of apples, exhibited by S. Penfold of Newhope, is very attractive and its excellence apparent, but it is not entered for competition.

The display of jellies, marmalades and canned fruits extends the length of the hall on the west side, and is a sight to interest the eyes and rouse the appetite of any beholder. The splendid exhibits of J. E. Paylor & C., and Miss Izella Straw are worthy of special mention.

The other side of this rack is occupied with a variety of fruits, the principal exhibit being the collection of O. Handy, which includes dried figs, peaches, apricots, prunes and raisins, all of excellent appearance. At the south end of this table is the collection of A. D. Bishiop, the prize winner on oranges at the Columbian Exposition. He displays several varieties of oranges; also lemons, limes, grapes, pears, persimmons, peaches, figs, prunes, plums and dates.

The Chamber of Commerce has a very attractive display in the center of the hall arranged in the form of a pyramid and containing many fine samples of different varieties of fruits preserved in jars. A table near by is also loaded with a similar one at the rear contains dried fruits and nuts.

The curio booth in the northeast corner is one of the most interesting features, and there is also much to admire in the cabinets of California woods, shells and insects, all showing patience, care and intelligence in preparation.

Several private booths occupy prominent places and add greatly to the attractiveness of the hall, among them being those of the Hermosa Gardens, Fred Rafferty, proprietor; the Orange County Business College, Wallace & Turner, stationery, and G. A. Edgar, china and queensware. A good musical and literary programme is presented each evening under the direction of Mrs. Grace Srack, and a visit to the hall will be found very enjoyable and profitable to those who have not yet seen this portion of the fair.

the week for meetings was strongly in favor of Wednesday evenings.

AN INDIAN SPEAKER.

Rev. Dr. Jinda Ram lectured at Liberal Hall last evening to a small audience upon the subject of "The Vedic Religion." Dr. Jinda Ram came here as a delegate to the World's Congress of Religions, which met in Chicago in 1886, and has been lecturing much of the time since. He is a bright and intelligent man, but a not familiar enough with the English language to become an entertaining speaker. His address was interesting, as pointing at the universal brother-hood of man and the belief in God common to all the great religions.

IT WILL BE UNIQUE.

The most unique political convention in the history of the county will be held in the pavilion in this city tomorrow. It will be the first political meeting of the women of the county to show that they know how to put up a county ticket. The convention will consist of about sixty delegates from this city. Rediands, Ontario, Colton and Cucamonga, and they will make up a ticket from the four now in the field, and from outside of it, of men "worthy of election," and then yote for them on November 3. A large number of visitors are expected from all over this part of the county.

SENATOR WHITTE'S SPEECH.

Senator Stephen M. White spoke in the pavilion in this city last night. There was not a large turnout to hear him, though his speech was the best Democratic address delivered here during this campaign. He dwelt largely upon the tariff question and the effects of the Wilson tariff upon the industries of this country. He also spoke plainly upon the railroad question, and was even more outspoken than Budd against the Southern Pacific. He was more entusiastically applauded than was the Democratic caddress candidate for Governor when he spoke here.

COLTON.

COLTON, Oct. 11. — (Special Correspondence.) A survey has been made and specifications are being prepared for a racetrack, to be located near the pavillon in this city. If the plans now under consideration are carried out, a track about three-quarters of a mile in length will be constructed in the old wash of the Santa Ana River, red clay being hauled upon it and mixed enough with the sand to make a firm but elastic bed. The construction of the track, with the necessary barns, stalls and other buildings, would cost from $5000 to $12,000, and make the course as good a one as is now found in the southern part of the State.

It is that the city pay the Mt. Tecarte system $1,000,000 for that system completed, and delivering to the city pay the Mt. Tecarte system $1,000,000 for that system completed, and delivering to the city follow inners' inches of water, the title in fee of the whole system being vested in the city, the latter to grant the Mt. A Farm Horse in Summer.

(American Farmer.) Aid summer is a trying time for the farm, horse. The work is hard, and there is a great deal of it to be done. Much of the time the heat is oppressive, and not infrequently it causes injury as well as discomfort. The best of care is needed to cnable the horse to maintain a high degroe of efficiency under the depressing circumstances by which he is surrounded. There are various directions in which this care must be exercised. The work must be proportioned to the strength and condition of the animal. Undue exposure to heat and storms are to be avoided, and accidental injuries are to be guarded against. Then, too careful attention should be given to the feeding and watering of the horse. These items will be particularly noted in the present article. This, not only because of their great importance, but also because it is so convenient, and upon some farms so common, to slight them.

It goes without saying that a sufficient quantity of food should be supplied. Unless the horse has enough to eat he cannot be an efficient worker. The great majority of farmers do not err in this direction. They give food enough, such as it is, as a rule, too, the quality of the food is good. But there are a great many cases in which the food is not of the right kind. Some farmers leed largely with hay. This would do if the horse were idle, but is too bulky food for a working animal. There are others who go to the opposite treme. They feed corn almost exclusing the content of the content of the close, heavy mass in the stomach is very difficult to digest. Not inquently it causes serious disease, even if this evil is avoided, the proves too fattening. It fails to give strength and endurance which are citally needed at this season of the yout of the content of the c to this city on the Southern Pacific after the Republican meeting on Friday night. should be allowed to drink before ear feeding, and a moderate quantity may be given a short time after he has finish eating. In hot weather water should all be given between meals. The own would not think he could go from morning until noon in the hay field wither something to drink. He will be wine remember that his team needs water just as truly as himself. If the horise very hot he should be given only a more at equantity of water at a time. After waiting a few minutes he may be allow another drink. It is a good plan to give water so often that he will not get withirsty. In fact, the whole matter feeding and watering the horse is to a managed very much as a wise man regulates his own eating and drinking. To same physiological rules apply to horse as to men, and very nearly the same pealties will follow their transgression.

In Bulletin No. 6 of the Santa Clara County Fruit Exchange, Col. Hersey writes

County Fruit Exchange, Col. Hersey writes as follows:

"Information comes to us that there are many who do not fully understand the terms used in the bulletins. Definitions are given below of those often used.

"If on weighing one pound of primes, they should be counted, and there found to be 45 or any number between 40 and 50, they would be 40-50s, meaning between 46 and 50 dried prunes to the pound. If one should count any number between 50 and 60 they would be called 50-60s, and so on; 90-100s means that one pound counts out between 90 and 100.

Prunes four sizes means 60-70s, 76-80s, 80-90s and 90-100.

"If a carload of four-size prunes are sold it means that equal quantities of each of the sizes 60-70s, 70-80s, 80-90s and 90-100s are sold, and as each car contains 24,000 pounds, it means that 6000 pounds of each of the four sizes are used to fill 24,000 pounds, it means that 6000 pounds of each of the four sizes are used to fill the car.

"At 5 cents per pound for a car of the four sizes, the price of each of the four sizes would be as follows: 60-70s, 5% cents; 70-80s, 5% cents; 80-90s, 4% cents; 90-100s, sizes would be as follows: 60-70s, 5% cents; 70-80s, 5% cents; 80-90s, 4% cents; 90-100s, 4% cents.

"Other sizes on the same basis of 5 cents would be as follows: 40-50s, 6% cents, 50-60s, 6% cents.

"It will be observed from the foregoing sizes and prices that they vary ½ cent per pound in price from one size to the next, above or below.

Any person who has, his prunes dried can, by weighing a pound of an average size of his lot and then counting the number in the pound, tell very nearly what they will be worth. As an example, it the pound counts 75 and the market price for four-size prunes is 5 cents, his prunes will be worth 5½ cents per pound in the market. He will, however, be obliged to deduct a third of a cent for grading, sacks and sacking and costs of sale. If they count between 60-70 they will be worth ½ cent more, or it 89-90, ½ cent less than 5½ cents. If the price for the four sizes in equal quantities varies from a cents, it is only necessary to add whatever the price is above 5 cents to the prices of the several sizes above named, or to cents, it is only necessary to add whatever the price is above 5 cents to the prices take from those prices in case the foursize price is less.

"Shorts," or "selling short," or "short sales." These expressions mean that a person, broker or commission-house has sold fruit of any kind or every kind when they had no fruit to sell. That is, before fruit had been secured or purchased by the seller—whether broker, commission-house or other person dealing in fruit — they sometimes contract to sell and deliver to an Eastern jobber or buyer when the season of delivery comes. The price and time of delivery to make the sales he has made; this is called "filling shorts." If the price of fruit goes up after the sale and before the purchase by the "short seller," then he dislikss to go up with it because he gets "squeezed." If the price goes down it is different: the

the "short seller," then he dislikes to go up with it because he gets "squeezed," if
the price goes down it is different; the
"short seller" goes down with it complacently and with a smile of happy satisfaction.
"Selling futures," or "futures" is quite like "selling short" in principle. Sales are often made long before the fruit to meet the sales ripens or is dried, and sometimes while the trees are in bloom, to be delivered in proper season; this is "selling futures." The seller virtually bets that the price is better today or the day of making the sale than it will be weeks or months hence when the fruit is ready for delivery or is to be delivered.

delivery or is to be delivered.

"Fancy" as applied to fruit means the largest and best, finely cured and well prepared in all respects.

The above explanations I trust are respected by the property of the second by the se sonably plain as far as they go. If not so, any one covering an inquiry by letter will receive further information."

Queer Names for Creeks.

(Cincinnati Enquirer:) "Slight circumstances sometimes confer names that stick," said C. W. Kendrick at the Grand, "In Cumberland county, Tenn., can be found two creeks namer respectively 'Daddy's' and 'Mammy's.' Both are considerable streams and of great service to the neonle of that country. The manner in erable streams and of great service to the people of that country. The manner in which they received these singular names is said by all who have investigated the subject to be as follows: Many years ago, before there were any railroads in that country, a man and his wife, with their young son, tramped across the mountains, seeking a new home. The man had imbibed too freely and at the first stream quarreled with the woman, who gave him a most unmerciful beating. After getting across the man was somewhat sobered, and the woman partook too freely. Five miles further on they came to another stream and the fight was renewed. The second round was in favor of the man. The boy, in recounting the episode where they stopped for the night, referred to the first creek as 'Mammy's' and the second as 'Daddy's,' and they have never had other names.

Hostilities in Chinatown.

War on a small scale broke out between factions in Chinatown last night. Three highbinders of the Hop Sing Tong faction went to the house of Wong Moon and after beating his wife badly about the face made themselves scarce in the neighborhood. Whether it was a case of attempted black-mail or merely of ill feeling could not be learned.

The nature of Mme, de Camor's business has from a scientific standpoint undergone investigation from such men as John Ruskin and Alfred Russell Wallace of the Society of Psychical Research, and been pronounced wonderful.

Having stood the test of metropolitan criticisms, the public are invited to call upon the Madame and she will prove to the most sceptical that her powers are marvelous.

All that she claims she will do, and for the next ten days will present all who have a sitting with a takismanic charm such as was used by the ancient Egyptians to restore lost love, bring good luck; remove evil influence; unite the separated and make home happy. Do not fall to call early, as I have only a limited number of these charms left, therefore it would be advisable to call before they are exhausted.

The Madame has a wonderful power over disease, and will cure the sick who call in the next ten days free of charge.

The Madame would call the public's attention to the fact, that she has given during her short stay in Los Angeles, over 2000 sittings, thus verifying the ancient saying, "that by their fruits, ye shall know them," and her past work is her future reference. She will give you advice on business, speculation, investments, love, courtship, marriage, will tell you if the one you love is true or false: locates mines and hidden treasures; interprets dreams and never fails to lift the dark veil of futurity, and unfold the panorama of your future in a clear and concise manner.
